

-ing
suffix

Name:

Adding -ing to Words

A suffix that means it is happening now

A suffix is a word part you add to the end of a base word. Add -ing to each base word to build the new word. Then read the sentences.

Build the word: base + ing

jump + ing = _____

help + ing = _____

sing + ing = _____

read + ing = _____

Read the sentences

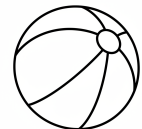

The frog is jumping.

We are reading a book.

The kids are playing ball.

Read the sentences 3 times. Colour a face each time.

Adding -ing to Words

Quick facilitation notes & answer key

What this worksheet teaches

Children learn that -ing is a suffix (a word part added to the end of a base word) that shows an action is happening now. They build words by adding -ing to a base, then read the new words in decodable sentences. All base words use sounds they already know.

How to lead it (about 20 minutes)

1. Say 'A suffix is added to the end of a word. -ing means it is happening now.'
2. Model the first one: jump + ing = jumping. Read it together.
3. Children build the other words, then read each sentence on their own.
4. Children read the whole page three times and colour one face each time.

Answer key

Build the word: jumping, helping, singing, reading.

Note on spelling: these base words just add -ing (no letter change). (Later lessons cover doubling, e.g. run -> running, and dropping silent e, e.g. make -> making.)

Sentences read: The frog is jumping. We are reading a book. The kids are playing ball. She is singing a song. He is helping his mom.

Ontario curriculum link (official wording)

B2.3 — use developing knowledge of the meanings of words and morphemes (i.e., bases, prefixes, and suffixes) to read and spell words.

In plain terms: children use word parts — here the suffix -ing — to read and spell longer words and understand what they mean.

If children get stuck — and ways to adjust

Watch for: reading the whole word as one chunk. Cover -ing, read the base, then add -ing.

Make it easier: do the build section together out loud before writing.

Make it harder: ask children to add -ing to run and make (these change spelling) and explain the rule.

You'll know it worked when: the child reads -ing words smoothly and explains that -ing means it is happening now.